WOULD INCREASE THEIR CAPITAL

Stockholders of First National Bank
Approve of Plan to Secure One Hundred Thousand More in Available Funds.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank this morning there was ratified a proposition to increase by $50,000 their capital. An equal amount will be added to the surplus. The plan will now be placed before the Comptroller of the Currency and, if approved, the stock will then be offered to the present stockholders, who will be allowed to purchase one new share for each two shares now held.

The par value of First National Bank stock is $100, and the price asked for the new issue will be $200 half being applied to the capital, and the balance to the surplus stock. The stock has sold as high as $258.

The reason for the new issue is to give the local institution more available funds for loans, the demand in this section being considerably larger than the supply for some time past.

It is understood that the greater part of the new issue will be taken up by the present stockholders. The remainder will be in the hands of the bank to be disposed of, but it is stated that the majority of the stockholders have already signified their intention to avail themselves of the opportunity to acquire more of the stock at a figure considerably below the market price and the book value.

AFTER LARGE SUM

Big Pile of Easy Money Coming to Washington County.

The county commissioners of Washington county, Md., are going after a roll of $300,000, which it is claiming from the state of Maryland as its share of the Shoemaker road appropriation for some eleven years' back. The county never asked for its share and now feels that it can use the money in its business. The solicitor has been told to get busy with the hook.

The Good Roads Commission says that because Washington county never asked for its apportionment same was thrown back into the pot and divided pro rata among the other counties that did apply. But the commissioners say they had no right to do this and will put up a fight for the $300,000.

SEE THE END OF BRODBECK CASE

York Gazette, Only Democratic Daily in that City, Implies that Proceeding will soon be Dropped.
No Witnesses Appear.

The York Gazette, a Democratic daily, is authority for the statement that recent developments in the Brodbeck-Beales controversy "induce the belief in many quarters that the whole proceeding on both sides is soon to be called off."

The Brodbeck-Beales hearing announced for Hunterstown to-day was called off on Monday evening and it is understood that, for the present at least, Mr. Brodbeck has given up the idea of having testimony taken at that place.

This morning Moses Bair went to Hunterstown to give the witnesses subpoenaed their fees and mileage but not one of them turned up and the trip was to no purpose. It is understood that eight or nine were expected to testify.

Attorney H. O. Ruby, representing Mr. Brodbeck, said Monday night: "The Hunterstown hearing has been postponed till some time later. I have no authority to state the reason. We had subpoenaed nine witnesses for to-morrow. We expected to show that in Straban township, Adams county, Republican money was offered for Democratic votes, and that at least in a number of instances the offer was spurned. We also intended to prove that Democrats were threatened with loss of business if they did not vote the Republican ticket, and that at one of the election polls a member of the board found Republicans handling beer in the toilet for the purpose of influencing Democrats to vote the Republican ticket."

On Wednesday the Beales side of the case will be opened in the York County Court House.

Mr. Brodbeck was in Washington to-day so that no expression on the case could be secured from him.

MANY RESIDENTS ASK FOR BRIDGE

Committee from Two Townships Appear before Weekly Meeting of Commissioners and Express Desire for Structure across Creek.

At this morning's meeting of the County Commissioners a committee of twenty residents of Cumberland and Freedom townships appeared to urge the construction of a bridge across Marsh Creek at Bishop's fording. No bridge has ever been built at this place which is a point extensively traveled.

Rev. P. T. Stockliger, Aaron Fleck, Oliver Waybright, and others of the committee addressed the commissioners on the necessity for the erection of a substantial structure. They pointed out that they were seriously handicapped through the lack of the necessary accommodations and were frequently compelled to make a wide detour or else abandon entirely any idea of coming to Gettysburg.

Charles S. Duncan, postmaster, also addressed the commissioners on the question and told that during periods of high water and ice the rural carrier was unable for as long as three weeks at a stretch to deliver mail to patrons on the other side of Marsh Creek, owing to the failure of the commissioners to erect a bridge.

After hearing the various arguments the members of the board took the matter under advisement and decided to get plans, specifications and approximate figures, after which they will decide definitely whether or not they shall accede to the request of the petitioners.

CIGARS UP IN SMOKE

Red Lion Cigar Factory Destroyed by Fire.

Fire at 11:30 o'clock Monday night destroyed the cigar factory of Frank H. Smith & Co., in Red Lion. The damage to building and contents being estimated at $3,000. The origin of the blaze is unknown. On account of the muddy condition of the streets the firemen were handicapped in getting their apparatus to the scene of the blaze.

The building was the property of Charles Householder. It was a two and one-half story frame structure and was erected at the rear of the owner's dwelling. Frank H. and Clarence Smith were the owners of the contents.

They say that 180,000 cigars, 25,000 pounds of tobacco, 700 moulds, cigar presses and other equipment were consumed in the flames.

JUNIOR WEEK FESTIVITIES

College Boys Have Concert, Play,
Dance and Two Basket Ball Games with which to Entertain their Friends during Coming Days.

This is the busiest week of the year at Gettysburg College, so far as social affairs are concerned, and the students, free from their mid-year examinations and fully recovered from the brain-fag which always follows these semi-annual tests, are preparing to celebrate in proper fashion the advent of the Junior Prom and attendant festivities.

This evening the first of a series of diversions will occur when Franklin and Marshall's basket ball team will appear on the local floor. The Gettysburg five has rested well after the hard trip of last week. Most of the injuries have been well taken care of and a strong line-up will be on the floor to meet the visitors from Lancaster. Attendance at the games has been greater this year than ever before and all available space will doubtless be occupied this evening.

On Thursday evening the Fisher Shipp Concert Company, which appeared here several years ago and gave a very acceptable concert, will entertain in Brua Chapel as one of the numbers of this year's course.

Friday afternoon Bucknell's basket ball team will oppose the local players and during the afternoon the President and Mrs. Granville will receive at the White House the members of the Senior and Junior classes and their guests for the Prom in Glatfelter Hall in the evening.

Friday evening the Prom itself will take place. Guests to the number of about one hundred are expected. Attractive programs and favors have been secured. The decorations will be elaborate and the music unusually good so that the committee in charge believes this year's affair will eclipse all preceding events. The Seniors will be the special guests of the Juniors for the evening.

The week's festivities will come to a close on Saturday evening when the Sophomores will give as their class play, "Husbands on Approval". The cast has been carefully drilled for some weeks and the attraction will doubtless be up to the standard of other amateur theatricals at the local school.

QUARANTINE TO CONTINUE LONGER

Another Case of Foot and Mouth
Disease Found in York County
Likely to Affect Conditions here, Say the Inspectors.

For the first time since January 10 a herd of live stock was on Monday found and condemned on account of the hoof and mouth disease. As a result the quarantine on the York-Adams counties district will be prolonged 90 days, it is stated at the headquarters of the state and federal inspectors. Dr. G. M. Graybill, head of the state inspectors, says that the diagnosis of the case shows that the animals of the herd had the disease for the second time, and it is believed that the herd was affected during the early days of the epidemic.

The disease was found on the farm of J. C. Sheffer, Springfield township, one half mile from Loganville. Mr. Sheffer's farm adjoins that of J. V. Kohler, whose herd was condemned early in the epidemic. The discovery of the disease was made by Dr. William R. Ecker, Monday morning, during the farm to farm canvass. The herd was condemned and in the afternoon one cow and seven hogs were appraised and killed by Dr. G. M. Graybill and Dr. William R. Ecker. Four head of the herd were killed by Mr. Sheffer for his own use. The Sheffer herd is supposed to have contracted the disease from the Kohler herd.

No new cases of the disease had appeared on any farms in these two counties for many weeks, all the farms where the ailment did appear had been thoroughly disinfected, and the affected stock was well buried before the precautionary measures were taken. The complete and vigorous methods adopted had evidently accomplished their purpose and there seemed to be no reason to fear a fresh outbreak.

Public sales are being held under State permits in the area still under quarantine and they are as well attended and bringing as good prices as those held in the townships where none of the disease was found during the recent prevalence of the apthous fever.

Four public sales were permitted Saturday in the York-Adams counties zone of the hoof and mouth disease by inspectors. Dr. William A. Troutman on Friday examined the herds of John H. Baer, West Manchester township, and Jacob Emlet, of Hamilton township, near New Oxford, and Saturday the cattle of Hyman Albright, of near Shrewsbury, which sales were held.

The veterinarians will be busy all of this week, when as high as eight sales will be held in the district in one day.

Five national and State inspectors arrived at Allentown Monday in consequence of the discovery of foot and mouth disease among the herds of Sol. Stephens, the biggest drover in the Lehigh Valley, who owns eight farms at Coopersburg, on which are hundreds of cattle.

One of these farms is only a mile from the Linden Grove Farm, owned by T. S. Cooper, the foremost importer and breeder of Jersey cattle in America, whose herd is valued at $250,000.

Several dozen of Stephens' cattle were shot and buried in trenches lined with quicklime. It is probable all his cattle will have to be slaughtered. The utmost resources are being employed to keep the plague from the Cooper herd.

OSOWIECZ IS MENACED

Smashing Drives by Von Hindenburg Force Enemy to Retreat—Kaiser in East Prussia.

Berlin, Feb. 16.—In the fastest series of offensive movements that has marked the operations in the eastern theater of war, Field Marshal von Hindenburg's army has cleared the Russians from all the districts of East Prussia and has in turn invaded the czar's territory.

Dispatches from Breslau stated that, following their successes in the Rumbinnen district, the German troops rolled the Russians back in their attack before Lyck and near Johannsburg, and had begun an assault on the Russian positions in the vicinity of Grajewo, on the road to Ossowicz, the fortress which commands the crossing of the Bober river.

North of Suwalki the Germans have also penetrated Russian territory and a battle is developing in the district from which the Germans were forced to retire a few months ago because of weather conditions.

The following official statement was issued:

"North of Tilsit, East Prussia, the enemy was driven out of Piktupoen and pushed in the direction of Tauraggen. On both sides of the frontier in the eastern lake region, engagements are in progress with the retreating enemy. German troops are advancing rapidly everywhere.

"German detachments marched in the Kolno district against the enemy, advancing beyond Lomza.

"In the Vistula district the Germans gained further ground and occupied Raciaz.

"In previous engagements, besides a number of prisoners, six guns were taken.

"In Poland, on the left bank of the Vistula, there were no important changes."

The return of Emperor William to the eastern theater leads to the belief that the operations of the German army will be for several weeks in the czar's own territory.

The next scene of violent conflicts is expected to be before Ossowicz, whose fall would allow the Germans to strike at the rear of the Russians defending the city of Warsaw.

Petrograd Admits German Advance.

Petrograd, Feb. 16.—The forced retirement of the Russian army from East Prussia is expected to result in a reversion of the Russians to their original plan of conducting a defensive campaign on their own territory.

It is pointed out in Petrograd that this would result in an advantage to the Russians, in that Germany will be deprived of the transportation facilities which she was able to use with great effectiveness during the fighting within her own borders.

With this program in operation, Russian observers say, it probably will be possible to retard the German advance and at the same time defensive operations will be easier, because the Russians will be harassed no longer by the lightning changes along the German front.

In the southwest the Russians are holding the Carpathian passes of Wislow and Nadworna against the German assaults, and according to reports reaching Petrograd are daily capturing German and Austrian prisoners and guns.

Another battle in which bayonet attacks were made by the Russians is reported from Smolinka. During the night the Russians surrounded an Austrian position and took prisoners ten officers and 400 men. Battles have occurred also at Kurimka, near Dukla, and at Baligrad.

RAID MONTENEGRIN PALACE

Austrian Air Bombs Land Within a Few Yards of Royal Family.

Cettigne, Montenegro, Feb. 16.—Two Austrian aeroplanes bombarded the Montenegrin royal palace at Rieka, and a number of bullets fell near the spot where King Nicholas was standing.

When the alarm was given the members of the royal family left the palace and remained in the courtyard, from which spot they watched the hostile air machines.

When over the palace the Austrian aviators opened fire with machine guns, and a number of bullets fell within a few yards of the king and queen and the royal princesses. The machines finally left.

to Isolate Enemy.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Germany's intention of sowing mines in the waters around the British Isles as a part of her submarine warfare against belligerent merchant ships, was announced in the note delivered to the state department by Count von Bernstorff.

Evidence submitted by the owners of the steamship Wilhelmina to prove that the ship is loaded with foodstuffs for non-combatants and not subject to seizure, was forwarded by the state department to Ambassador Page for presentation to the London foreign office, with the suggestion that unless Great Britain has sufficient grounds not yet advanced for doing otherwise, the ship at once be permitted to proceed with her cargo to her destination.

The proposal of the German ambassador that submarine attacks on British merchantmen would be abandoned if Great Britain ceased interference with food supplies for German civilians, also was transmitted to Ambassador Page for submission to the foreign office.

CANNONADE ALONG THE LINE

The French Check Foe in Lorraine, But Are Driven From Trenches Near Ypres.

London, Feb. 16.—Unusually heavy artillery duels, according to reports from both sides, are proceeding in Belgium, and the official statements from Paris and Berlin each claims victory in that region and in the fighting below the Belgian line in France.

Among the sand dunes French cannon is now pitted against the German mortars.

In Lorraine the French have succeeded in driving back the Germans who captured Norroy, near Pont-a-Mousson, in the Voivre region, and the conflict continues there. Artillery duels of more or less severity are reported all along the extended battle line in France.

The village of Norroy was taken by the Germans in a surprise attack at night. It was the scene of a terrible encounter in the darkness, during which it was set on fire in several places. The weather was cold and the ground was covered with snow.

Norroy is upon high ground dominating a considerable amount of territory around it. The strength of the German forces in the region north of Pont-a-Mousson threatens the position of the French forces southwest of Metz.

It is reported that the Germans have burned a number of villages in the French lines by dropping bombs upon them. This destruction was evidently intended to wipe out buildings which otherwise would have afforded succor to the French troops and facilitate the German artillery fire.

Following an outpost clash, a vigorous engagement has developed between French and German forces in the valley of the Launch river.

In upper Alsace, says a Geneva dispatch, the French have been able to mass a heavy force of men in that region, owing to their victories at Thann and Cernay, and they have been exerting severe pressure against the German works west of Colmar.

The following official communique was issued by the French war office:

"The only reports received relate to a few successful artillery engagements.

"Near Polcappelle, northeast of Ypres, one of the enemy's batteries has been silenced.

"At Beauraine, south of Arras, German trenches have been destroyed.

"In the neighborhood of Solissons, as well as in the region of Perthes, German defense works and formations have been successfully cannonaded."

German Victory Near Ypres.

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, L. I., Feb. 16.—The war office issued the following statement:

"South of Ypres, near St. Eloy, the Germans took about 900 meters of the enemy's positions. Counter attacks were without success.

"Equally unsuccessful was the enemy's attack in the district southwest of La Bassee. Several dozens of prisoners were taken by the Germans.

"An advanced trench which the Germans lost on Feb. 2 near Sudelkopf was taken back.

"The Germans drove the enemy out of Senzen, in the Launch valley (Alsace). Rempach was evacuated by the enemy."

SEES DANGER OF U. S. IN WAR

Danish Newspaper Takes Grave View of Note to Berlin.

London, Feb. 16.—The Politiken, of Copenhagen, commenting on the situation between the United States and Germany, is quoted as saying that "America is acting with all the energy which might be expected, and her note contains a grave warning, so grave that war between Germany and the United States can no longer be regarded as an impossibility."

"President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan," the Politiken says, "are peace loving men, but public opinion in America may drive them further than they desire. Germany has everything to lose, and it is earnestly to be hoped the American warning will not be without the desired effect in Berlin."

French Airmen Reach Rhine.

Paris, Feb. 16.—Two French airmen flew over Strassburg, on the Rhine, but did not drop bombs. This is the first time since the beginning of the war that French aviators have appeared over this German city. Three German seaplanes appeared over Belfort, France, but they were driven off by French aviators.

Fathers of Six Come Last.

Paris, Feb. 16.—M. Millerand, the French secretary of war, issued the following note: "All reservists and territorials who are fathers of six children, even though already serving in the army, will be incorporated in the 1877 class, which will be the last class of reservists to be called to the colors."

The New Foreign Minister of Austria.

GERMANY MAKES OFFER TO ITALY

Promised Austrian Province For Support in War.

London, Feb. 16.—In a statement to the house of commons Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, intimated that further action would be taken by the allies to prevent the importation of foodstuffs in neutral ships to Germany.

"Germany will not be allowed to adopt a system of open piracy and murder without active reprisals," he said.

"We have not yet stopped the importation of food into Germany, but the time has come to reconsider the situation. The allied governments will probably make declaration of action, the effect of which will be to bring the full pressure of the English naval power on Germany."

Mr. Churchill gave an interesting review of the naval situation, in introducing the navy estimates. He said that efficiency was the keynote of the admiralty's program, and that at the outbreak of the war the supplies of ammunition, men and oil were complete.

During the six months of the war, Mr. Churchill said, Great Britain's total losses at sea, including all ships except trawlers, amounted to only sixty-three. Nevertheless it was necessary to be on the lookout for another German attempt to harass British trade routes.

He said the admiralty had moved men at home and abroad, including Belgian and French troops and the wounded up to the number of 1,000,000 without an accident or the loss of a life.

The British naval losses in the war so far, he said, have been 5509 officers and men, most of whom were killed by German submarines.

The German navy's losses were approximately equal to the British, but in addition fifty-three officers and 954 men were made prisoners. During the past three months, he added, 7981 English merchant vessels traversed the seas in safety.

Kaiser Going to Cuxhaven to Start Submarine Flotilla Thursday Night.

Amsterdam, Feb. 16.—It is reported here that Emperor William will arrive at Cuxhaven on Thursday to visit the submarine flotilla that will begin its under-sea warfare against England and her shipping the following day.

Advices from Berlin say that Admiral von Tirpitz already has arrived at Cuxhaven, and that the new campaign against Great Britain will begin at midnight Thursday.

GREEK ENVOY QUILTS TURKEY

His Departure From Constantinople May Prelude Breach.

Rome, Feb. 16.—The Greek ambassador to Turkey has left Constantinople and returned to Athens. The embassy is now in charge of a secretary.

Owing to recent misunderstandings over the treatment of a Greek official at Pera and to the Albanian invasion of Serbia, the departure of the Greek envoy is looked upon in an ominous light.

110,000 Tons of Food Sent to Belgium.

New York, Feb. 16.—More than 110,000 tons of food had been sent to Belgium up to Jan. 20 by the commission for relief in Belgium, according to its twelfth weekly report. Of the supplies shipped up to the close of the report, 652 tons were medical stores. The commission announces that need for food in Belgium is increasing.

DISEASE NEAR JERSEY CATTLE

Discovered Within Mile of Importer of Valuable Animals.

Allentown, Pa., Feb. 16.—Five national and state inspectors arrived here in consequence of the discovery of foot and mouth disease among the herds of Sol Stephens, the biggest drover in the Lehigh valley, who owns eight farms at Coopersburg, on which are hundreds of cattle.

One of the farms is only a mile from Linden Grove farm, owned by T. S. Cooper, the foremost importer and breeder of Jersey cattle in America, whose herd is valued at $250,000.

Several dozen of Stephens' cattle were shot and buried in quicklime. The utmost efforts are being made to protect the Cooper herd.

BABIES DIE FAST IN POOR HOMES

Mortality High Where Father's Wages Are Low.

PROBE BY UNITED STATES.

Children's Bureau of Department of Labor Finds That Deaths of Babies Investigated Were in Inverse Proportion to Earnings of Parent—Neglected Streets Cause of Many Deaths.

In its first report on infant mortality the children's bureau of the department of labor says it found that deaths of babies investigated were in inverse proportion to the earnings of their fathers, that babies whose fathers earned less than $10 a week died at the rate of 256 per thousand and those whose fathers earned $25 or more a week died at the rate of eighty-four per thousand.

The report by the bureau is the first of an extensive inquiry into this subject. The bureau finds that the death rate of babies varied in different parts of the same city. In the poorer section, where sanitary conditions were worst, the rate was 271 per thousand babies, or more than five times that of the choice residential section of the city.

Artificial Feeding.
The report also shows that artificially fed babies die at a much more rapid rate than naturally nourished babies. It says:

"In the earliest months of the baby's life exclusive breast feeding appears to be the only safe method. Only 46.6 babies per thousand died under one year of age when breast fed for at least three months as against 165.8 per thousand when fed on artificial food up to the age of three months.

"Where mothers were employed a large part of the time in heavy work babies died at a much more rapid rate. In one group of nineteen mothers whose babies all died fifteen had been keeping lodgers an arduous occupation among the foreign women, where the wife without extra charge often washes and irons for the lodgers and buys and prepares their food.

"The city bears its share of the responsibility for infant deaths. A high rate of infant deaths was found in incidence with neglected streets and insanitary housing. In houses where water had to be carried in from outdoors the infant death rate was 198 per thousand as against 118 per thousand where water was piped into the house."

The findings are based on a report as to infant mortality conditions in Johnstown, Pa. Other cities now being studied are Manchester, N. H.; Brockton, Mass.; and Saginaw, Mich. Johnstown was chosen as the first city to be studied because of its interest as a type of town in which there are no large industries employing women and because its size and good birth registration permitted a study with the limited staff which the bureau could at first assign to the work.

Miss Lathrop's Letter.
In her letter submitting the report to the secretary of labor Miss Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau, says that the subject of infant mortality was chosen for the first field inquiry because of its importance.

According to an estimate of the United States census bureau, at least 300,000 babies die annually in this country, which means one baby out of eight under one year old. Miss Lathrop says that leading sanitarians declare that if proper methods of hygiene and sanitation were observed this number could be indefinitely reduced.

Every mother of a Johnstown baby born in 1911 was visited by women agents of the children's bureau and information obtained about the family surroundings of the baby—how the father earns the money necessary for his care, and how much he earns, and whether the mother works outside the home.

The report was written by Miss Emma Duke, one of the women investigators of the bureau. It shows that for 135 miles of streets and alleys only 64 per cent of the streets were paved and but 11 per cent of the alleys.

EGYPT'S CLIMATE CHANGING.

Rain Now Falls Where It Had Been Unknown in Many Centuries.

The climate of Egypt has been changing in a remarkable manner in the last few years. Rain fell in torrents in Alexandria during the celebration of the accession of the new sultan.

Such a happening half a century ago would have been regarded as a phenomenon, but rain now falls in places where it had never been known to fall before in many centuries, and more rain is falling where only very little, or merely dew, once added the farmers.

The English are believed to be responsible for the rain, with their new channels for spreading over the land the waters of the Nile. Just as the plantation of trees in a desert will bring rain, so is Egypt now a moister place because of the extension of cultivated lands.

But it is not likely that western civilization will destroy the wonderful dryness of the Egyptian air, with its beneficent effect on invalids.

GERMANY MAKES WORKERS OF CRIPPLED SOLDIERS

With Characteristic Thoroughness It Is Finding Jobs For Wounded.

That Germany, with its characteristic thoroughness and efficient organization in every detail of life, does not intend to lose any time in development of its people, even in the case of those who are returned home sick or wounded from service in the field, is shown by the numerous suggestions made in various German newspapers for the instruction of such soldiers in the hospitals in which they lie, as soon as their wounds begin to heal or their illness to wane.

One of the articles published in this connection in the Frankfurter Zeitung was written by Dr. G. Burkhardt, who describes the methods of converting wounded soldiers into useful workers in other lines of activity than those to which they have been accustomed and for which they have been made unfit by reason of their crippled condition.

Dr. Burkhardt tells of one man, formerly a motor boatman in Hamburg, whose left arm was shot off. By dint of some instruction in English, writing, and arithmetic, the man is being fitted for a job as bookseller and souvenir seller on transatlantic steamships after the war. A sergeant major who lost both his legs is being turned into a first class stenographer and typist by dint of daily instruction in the hospital.

To assist in this work of instruction of wounded soldiers, an appeal has been made to men and women throughout the empire, both with a view to actual teaching of the crippled soldiers and to obtaining positions for them after they are dismissed from the hospitals. The chief courses of instruction so far given include penmanship, arithmetic, foreign languages, stenography and typewriting.

HAND PRINTED NEWSPAPER.

Thirty Page Weekly Edited by Indiana
Youth to Be Fair Exhibit.

A thirty page weekly newspaper printed by hand with a lead pencil will be one of Indiana's exhibits at the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco, according to Lieutenant Governor William P. O'Neill, who is chairman of the Indiana exposition committee. Mr. O'Neill showed his friends a copy of the paper, the Weekly 101, which is got out by "Mooney Mingles" at Lawrenceburg, Ind.

The Weekly 101 is seven columns wide and conforms in size to a regular city newspaper. Each edition is in five sections and contains the news of Lawrenceburg, the state and nation, together with editorial comment, sketches, illustrations and advertisements, all prepared by "Mooney," who is proprietor, editor, business manager, reporter, artist and office boy. The paper has its own comic section, which is also the work of "Mooney," who in everyday life is Robert Fitzgerald, nineteen years old. The youth works eight hours a day and works on his newspaper at night. Usually there is only one copy of each number of the paper printed, but this appears regularly each Saturday night in one of the Lawrenceburg stores, where it is eagerly scanned by the Saturday night crowd.

TUXEDO COAT CAN'T TANGO.

It's Not Good Enough For Dances, Say
Custom Cutters.

The eastern delegation has won the fight with the westerners in the matter of recognizing the Tuxedo coat as evening dress in the convention in Milwaukee of the International custom cutters' association.

The western members of the association wanted the stamp of approval on the Tuxedo for evening wear at dances. The fashion report comes out strongly in favor of the full evening dress, and says that it is the only correct evening garb for functions attended by women, and that the Tuxedo must continue to be recognized as proper dress only at clubs and at stag affairs.

The tailors also decreed that clothes will be tighter, with less angularity, and the business cutaway is recommended in preference to the sack coat as it is more dressy.

Package Was Valuable.
A package done up in soiled cloth and bound with two garters and a shoestring was kicked about the street in front of the city hall in Springfield, Ore., for half a day and then lay for two days among the waste papers on the recorder's desk until it was claimed by Jules Roseau. Opening the package, he displayed $280 in currency and certificates of deposit for $480 more and handed the finder $25.

BOOKLET ON APPLICATION

Beauty in Righteous Acts.
Postponement of a righteous act is never right. The sooner we sow the seeds of love, the sooner we begin to reap the bountiful harvest of happiness and joy. The sooner we give to the world the best we have, the sooner the best will begin to come back to us—if not in visible material things, then in what is much to be desired—spiritual and mental delights.—Unknown.

What Heaven Means to Me.
When we have traversed the dim leagues, and have seen things wonderful at every turn, and have passed through the bitter food, we shall find —at least this is my hope—no guarded city of God from which we shall go no more out, but another road passing into wider fields and dimmer uplands, and to things more and more wonderful and strange and unknown.—Arthur C. Benson in Century Magazine.

Daily Thought.
Blessed are the happiness makers:
blessed are they that remove friction,
that make the course of life smooth,
and the intercourse of men gentle!—
Henry Ward Beecher.

Take Your Choice.
There are two kinds of people—
those who work for somebody else and those who have others working for them. You can be either that you prepare to be. Take your choice.

Adversity.
A high character might be produced.
I suppose, by continued prosperity, but it has very seldom been the case. Adversity, however it may appear to be our foe, is our true friend; and, after a little acquaintance with it, we receive it as a precious thing—the prophecy of a coming joy. It should be no ambition of ours to traverse a path without a thorn or a stone.—Charles H. Spurgeon.

RICH OF BELGIUM ON BREAD LINE

vasted Country.

NATION DEEP IN DESPAIR.

These Left in Towns Are Old People and Children—Physician Who Has Just Returned From Stricken Territory Says He Never Saw a Smile.
Brand Whitlock a Hero.

Dr. Percy H. Williams of the faculty of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York city, who went to Belgium in December and took charge of the feeding of nearly a million people in the province of Liege, is back home. At the offices of the commission for relief in Belgium, 71 Broadway, Dr. Williams talked of his experiences in the stricken country. The picture he painted was one of the blackest misery, a whole nation plunged into deepest despair.

"My whole impression," said Dr.
Williams, "after all these weeks in Belgium is one of the deepest gloom.
I never saw a smile. People go about waiting, waiting. They are neither righteous nor are they hoping. They are just waiting. It is simply a land of 7,000,000 people who are living on black bread and soup. Many of their homes are in ruins. Many of their close relatives are dead or lost. There is no work. For example, I went into a lace store one day at Liege. There were several clerks, but they told me I was the only person who had been in the store that day.

"Another impression; it is a country of old people and of children. There were over 700,000 children in Belgium before the war between the ages of one and nine years, and they are there now. At Vise, for example, where there is no longer a house, where the whole little city is gone, I saw children, children everywhere. They are living in cellars and going to school in sidetracked and wrecked passenger cars. We gave them two meals of food a day so that they might keep in school.

Neri a Remarkable Man.

"While I was at Louvain I met Burgomaster Neri, the brave and vigorous man who volunteered to act in the early part of the war in that capacity if the Germans would agree to preserve military order, and he kept civil order, and he kept civil order. This man is a most remarkable man. He was a professor of international law at Louvain university. He studied international law under President Wilson at Princeton college in 1896, so he told me. He is acting at Louvain as head of our provincial committee.

"It is not a question of being rich or poor. The richest people of Belgium are in the bread line. For example,
I spent one night at the home of Senator Voreque, the leading philanthropist of Belgium and its wealthiest man. He is known as the coal baron. He is now acting as the head of the provincial committee. He lives in the Chateau Marlemont, near Charleroi. On his table the night I was there I ate the same supply of bread that the poorest, humblest laborer in Belgium is getting.
This supply is 250 grams of brown bread per person per day.

"In the small towns it is made by the communal baker. In the big towns it is baked by the baker, and each baker certifies the number of his customers, and then each customer receives it on presentation of his ticket to the baker. In the big cities like Liege and Brussels and Antwerp all the bread and soup are distributed by ticket. All the soup is free, and it is fairly good.

No Hope Till Next Harvest.

"There is certainly no hope of an improvement in conditions in Belgium until the next harvest or until the war ends. Consider Liege. It is a miniature Pittsburgh. I have been there in times of peace and seen its great stacks belching out black ribbons of smoke as I have seen in Pittsburgh.
It was the center of the automobile, steel and arms industry. Today its great stacks are smokeless. The few old men there are idle. There are no young men because they have all el-ther gone to the war or been taken prisoners into Germany. There is no work for the few people who are left.

"So far as I know, there have been no actual cases of starvation in all Belgium, but the common sense of any person will tell him that there can be no food in a country which in times of peace depended for nearly all of its food and about one-half of its other foodstuffs on imports.

"The biggest man in all Belgium is Brand Whitlock, our minister. When anybody in Belgium wants anything, he tries to see Whitlock about it, and Whitlock sees him and does what is asked, if he can. This means that he is working night and day. In the eyes of the Belgians he is a wonderful man."

Saved by Iron Cross.

In a recent artillery action a German lieutenant was struck by a splinter from a shell. He was lacerated about the chest and body, but his iron cross, though demolished, saved his life. The Kaiser has caused another iron cross to be sent to the officer and in addition the red eagle for his bravery in reconnoitering within the fire of the hostile lines.

Preserve Patch of Yew Trees.

A bit of primeval yew forest about half a mile square is carefully preserved in the Bavarian highlands of Germany, the tree, once widely distributed, having become almost extinct in Europe.

POPULAR MECHANICS

Iron of Olden Days.

There seems to be no doubt that the metal produced previous to the introduction of modern methods was superior in its resistance to corrosion to the present day product. I have seen various iron articles, especially nails, which showed far less rust after an exposure of a hundred years or so than the modern variety does in a few weeks. One article, an old flint lock pistol, was especially interesting. It was found by a friend in a patch of woods in Vermont and had evidently laid there for many years, since a piece of newspaper with the date 1796 had been used as wadding in loading it. All the iron parts were rather rough and pitted and covered with rust, but the arm was in surprisingly good shape considering the conditions to which it had been subjected. The spring, hammer and trigger were still capable of performing their functions, and very little effort was required to put the old weapon in decidedly presentable condition.—

Ozone Water Purifying.

The city of Nice is making use of two large plants for purifying water on the Paris-Otto ozone system. First there was erected an ozone sterilizing plant at Don Voyage, which handled 675,000 cubic feet per day, and as this was found to be most successful the next step was to put in a second works at Rimiez, and at the present time the city is entirely supplied by ozone sterilized water, says the Scientific American. Power for the first water works comes over an electric line using three phase current at 10,000 volts and belonging to a local network, while in the second plant the water supply is obtained under conditions which allow the hydraulic power itself to furnish all the power needed for the current.

Flexible Lamp For Motorcars.

Adjustable motorcar lights, intended primarily as side lamps, which by a slight turn of a handle may be rotated to throw their beams in any direction, have been lately patented, says
Popular Mechanics.

Because of the ease of their operation and the variety of angles at which they may be used they offer a wide range of service. They are supplied with a ball and socket mounting and a universal joint connection, while a cam plate over the ball, engaging with the horizontal shaft, converts the regular rotary motion to an irregular one, turning the lamp down, sideways or straight ahead, by a slight turn of the wrist.

If the lamp is mounted beside the driver, for instance, by turning the knob on the shaft at the back of the light the rays may be thrown over the engine, on the tool kit, at a wheel where there is tire trouble, to the right or left of the road or straight ahead.
The device may also be used on a motorcycle or boat.

Lead Output Increased.

The year 1914 was marked by an enormous increase in the output of domestic lead in the United States, according to C. E. Siebenthal of the United States geological survey—an increase of nearly 100,000 tons over the production of any preceding year.
There was also a heavy decrease in the tonnage of lead of foreign origin imported into the United States, and for the first time in years a great increase in the quantity of domestic lead exported to European countries. At the same time the average price of lead in the United States was the lowest since 1898.

Subway For London Mail.

A huge foot tunnel is to be constructed in London for the conveyance of mail, says the Scientific American.
It will contain two tracks with island platforms at the eight stations from Paddington to Whitechapel, inclusive.
The trains will be run without operators from distant control stations at an average speed of twenty-five miles per hour. At the island platforms there will be electric elevators to transfer the mails to the sorting offices.

Cement For Furnaces.

A fireproof cement to close cracks in furnaces is made of seventy-five parts of wet fire clay, three parts black oxide of manganese, three parts white sand and one part powdered asbestos.

Mistletoe's Ravages.

Those familiar with the mistletoe
as a Christmas decoration have no idea of the great losses due to this parasite in the forests of the west, where it counts next to fire and insects in the amount of damage done.

Medical Advertising AMOLOX CURES SKIN DISEASES

Stops itching instantly, drives out all skin eruptions. Do not suffer the bearable torture of eczema and other

Turkey Was Called "Indian Fowl."
The turkey, so far as records are known, was introduced into England in 1524, brought probably from the port of Cadiz, where ships trading with the Orient were accustomed to call. In nearly all countries, inclusive of Spain, and even Turkey itself, this bird is called the "Indian fowl."

SENATE VOTES TO PROBE SHIP LOBBY

Charges Deals For and Against Bill to be Sifted.

WARBURG MAKES DENIAL

Declares He Never Discussed Ship Purchase Measure and Protests Against Being Drawn Into Controversy.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Amended to provide for an investigation of alleged activity by shipping interests against the administration's ship purchase bill, Senator Burton's resolution for an inquiry into any negotiations by government officials for options on belligerent ships was favorably reported by the senate from committee.

The resolution was passed unanimously. The vice president immediately named Senators Walsh, of Montana; Simmons, of North Carolina; Reed, of Missouri; Burton, of Ohio, and Weeks, of Massachusetts, as the investigating committee.

Charges that behind the ship purchase bill is the purpose to sell interned German liners to the government brought forth disclaimers by Paul M. Warburg, of the federal reserve board, and Secretary McAdoo of any connection with these alleged deals.

Mr. Warburg's name had been mentioned in senate debates, when senators opposed to the bill have questioned whether Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of which he formerly was a member, were not interested in selling German ships to the government.

Mr. Warburg said: "I have never discussed with Secretary McAdoo nor any member of the administration or congress, directly or indirectly, the purchase or sale of the ships of the Hamburg-American line or any other line. As a matter of fact, I have conscientiously avoided all political discussions and there is not a living soul in the United States to whom I ever said a word favoring the ship purchase bill."

Mr. Warburg protested against unwarranted attempts "to draw any member of the board into the arena of political controversy."

Mr. McAdoo declared before the resolution was reported that he was disposed to place all information at his disposal before the senate, whether the Burton resolution was adopted or not.

Presenting the committee report on the Burton resolution, Senator Williams said:

"The original resolution intimates that there has been corrupt influence behind the support of this shipping bill. It is intended to strike at the secretary of the treasury, we might as well be frank about that, and at a member of the federal reserve board. If there is rottenness on one side of this Denmark, we had better see what is on the other side."

The resolution as adopted directs inquiry on:

Whether any individual, firm or corporation in the United States has made loans or advances to any individual, firm or corporation owning ships which are detained in the ports of the United States or elsewhere to avoid the consequences of war, and whether they have at any time obtained options upon any such ships, and whether such persons or corporations having made loans or obtained such options, have any direct or indirect connection with the government of the United States.

There are only fifteen working days left to the Sixty-third congress. Some senators were of the opinion that the investigation ordered, which is likely to be prolonged, made improbable the passage of the bill before March 4, and practically assured an extra session if the president adhered to his determination to press the measure.

Masked Men Steal $2000.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Held at bay with revolvers, two clerks in charge of the Washington Railway and Electric company's "east barn," were forced to watch two masked men rifle the safe and cash drawers and escape with $2000. The clerks, alone in the office, were compelled to stand with hands aloft while one of the robbers poured money, checks and car tickets into a gunny sack.

His back was broken. He was rushed to the Williamsport hospital, but died without regaining consciousness. Bogart was to have been wedded next week.

NEW QUAKE IN ITALY

Kills and Buries People in District Ruined Several Weeks Ago.

Rome, Feb. 16.—Renewed earthquake shocks occurred in parts of the district in central Italy visited by seismic disturbances several weeks ago. One person was killed and six persons were injured in the collapse of a house at Nazhano.

At Rocca Sinibaldi the bell of the convent of Santa Marta fell on several houses, burying ten persons.

Citaduale was entirely wrecked, and at Veroli several houses were rendered uninhabitable.

ALLIES TO CUT OFF FOOD TO GERMANY

Britain to Strike Back at "System of Murder."

Rome, Feb. 16.—The Idea Nazionale, a newspaper published in the interests of the Nationalist party, publishes a forecast of German proposals to Italy which reads as follows:

"Before the end of February, Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador to Italy, will present to the Italian government a concrete proposal for Italian participation in the war on the side of Germany."

"This consists of the cession by Austria of the province of Trent and the rectification of the eastern Italian frontier by the addition of a strip of land going as far as the Isone river. In addition, Germany will also pledge herself to conclude a new treaty with Italy which will afford protection to Italy's Mediterranean interests."

"In exchange, Italy is to take part at once in the war. She will occupy Tunis, and help Turkey drive the English from Egypt, which will return under the dominion of the sultan of Turkey. In addition the Italian fleet will attack the Anglo-French naval forces in the Mediterranean."

Continuing, the Idea Nazionale says, Prince von Buelow, referring to Trieste, made this statement: "It is impossible to give Trieste to Italy, because this seaport is the lung, not of Austria, but of Germany." At the close of one of his conversations with the Italian statesmen, Prince von Buelow, according to this newspaper, made use of this phrase: "Either Italy will be friendly toward us or we will treat her worse than we are treating England."

BLINDED WATCHING SPARKS

Man Falls Semi-Conscious and Is Taken to Hospital.

Philadelphia, Feb. 16.—Suffering from rheumatism, Frank Davis, fifty-nine years old, of 725 Van Hook street, is in the Cooper hospital in Camden.

Davis was blinded while watching men engaged in electrically holding ends of rails on Camden's streets.

He became fascinated by the sight and paid no attention to the warnings of the workmen not to look so steadily at the flaring sparks from the machine. Suddenly he collapsed and fell partly insensible into the street. He was hurried to the hospital.

Cathedral's Vicissitudes.

St. Paul's cathedral of London has had a strange association with fire. The first edifice on the present site was erected in 610 by Ethelbert, king of Kent, but in 1087 this was destroyed by fire. Finally in 1666, when the great fire devastated most of London, St. Paul's was wrecked, this being the fifth fire. In 1675 the present church was built by Charles II at a cost of more than $7,500,000.

In the Day of Temptation.

Some day, in the great years to come, you will be wrestling with the great temptation, or trembling under the great sorrow of your life. But the real struggle is here, now, in these quiet weeks. Now it is being decided whether, in the day of your supreme sorrow or temptation you shall miserably fail or gloriously conquer. Character cannot be made except by steady, long-continued process.

—Phillips Brooks.

Millie Was Mixed.

Little Millie's father and grandfather were Republicans; and, as election drew near, they spoke of their opponents with increasing warmth, never heeding Millie's attentive ears and wondering eyes. One night, however, as the little maid was preparing for bed, she whispered in a frightened voice: "Oh, mamma, I don't dare to go upstairs. I'm afraid there's a Democrat under the bed."

Ungracious Papuans.

Papua is the largest island in the world, if one classes Australia as a continent and disregards the vague lands of the polar regions. It is a fertile and blooming realm. It has climate in variety to suit almost anyone. But it is inhabited by simoid anthropophag with a rather ungracious distaste for Europeans.

Cleans Paint and Varnish.

Here is a good way to clean painted and varnished surfaces: To half a bucketful of warm water add a tablespoonful of salts of tartar; wash the painted surface with this, and it will remove every speck of dirt. Rinse in clear warm water and dry with a chamois.

Medicine of the Future.

The medicine of the future will be deeply concerned with the distribution and conditions of work in the community. The three great foundation stones of national health and efficiency are food, housing and work, but the greatest of these is work, for food and housing depend upon wages, and wages upon work.—Civilization and Health.

What sadder fate than that of being ridiculous? asks the Smart Set. A fat woman in a tight blouse! A waiter making love to a gaunt old star, and compelled to apostrophize her beauty! Any man over thirty-five at the hymeneal altar! An old maid ranting for sex hygiene! A socialist marching off to war!

SULPHUR DRIES UP ECZEMA AND STOPS ITCHING

This old time skin healer is used just like any cold cream.

Sulphur, says a renowned dermatologist, just common hold-sulphur made into a thick cream will soothe and heal the skin when irritated and broken out with Eczema or any form of eruption. The moment it is applied all itching ceases and after two or three applications the Eczema disappears, leaving the skin clear and smooth.

He tells Eczema sufferers to get from any good pharmacy an ounce of hold-sulphur and apply it to the irritated parts the same as you would any cold cream.

For many years common hold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the practice of dermatology and cutaneous affections by reason of its parasite-destroying property. It is not only parasiticide, but also a stimulant, antiseptic and remarkably healing in all irritable and inflammatory conditions of the skin. While not always effecting a permanent cure it never fails to instantly subdue the angry itching and irritation and heal the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

This old time skin healer is used just like any cold cream.

Sulphur, says a renowned dermatologist, just common hold-sulphur made into a thick cream will soothe and heal the skin when irritated and broken out with Eczema or any form of eruption. The moment it is applied all itching ceases and after two or three applications the Eczema disappears, leaving the skin clear and smooth.

He tells Eczema sufferers to get from any good pharmacy an ounce of hold-sulphur and apply it to the irritated parts the same as you would any cold cream.

For many years common hold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the practice of dermatology and cutaneous affections by reason of its parasite-destroying property. It is not only parasiticide, but also a stimulant, antiseptic and remarkably healing in all irritable and inflammatory conditions of the skin. While not always effecting a permanent cure it never fails to instantly subdue the angry itching and irritation and heal the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

By SARAH BAXTER

There lived in Paris during the last decade of the eighteenth century two friends, Alphonse Dubois and Gaston Damourier. Damourier was six years younger than his friend and a bachelor. Dubois was forty-five and the father of a girl twenty years old.

Damourier, who was passing through middle age, cast longing eyes on Louise Dubois, who was in the prime of youth. He devoted himself to her, and she, flattered by the attentions of an older man, accepted them.

Possibly she might have become his wife had not Cupid stepped in and brought about a passion between her and a young man of twenty-three, Armand La Fevre.

The evil may lie dormant in a man for years, then under a strain break out in all his virulence. Damourier gave no sign of the ranking within him. He had not proposed to Louise, though he was about to do so. He had not intimated to her father that he was a suitor for his daughter's hand. On the appearance of La Fevre he stepped back, and when Louise announced her engagement to her younger lover he offered his impressive congratulations. But he resolved that she should be his wife.

France was then entering upon the throes of revolution. Dubois and Damourier became advocates of reform, though they deprecated the reign of terror.

Robespierre got the upper hand as leader of the radicals and by his order the guillotine was working full time in the Place de la Revolution. The nobles were hunted down, put through the mockery of a trial before some citizen butcher or baker or sewer cleaner and hustled off to execution. Soon it became only necessary to send a person to death to inform on him as an enemy to France. The names of the accused and the informer were entered in a book for the purpose kept by an official of the revolution.

One morning La Fevre was with his fiancée. Shocked at the terrible massacre that was daily perpetrated, Louise, in an agony of fear, was trembling in her lover's arms. The tramp of men was heard without and an officer appeared at the head of a file of soldiers.

"Are you Citizen La Fevre?" asked the officer.

"I am."

"Citizen La Fevre, you are accused of being an enemy of France. Come!" Louise clung to her lover, and the guard was obliged to tear him away from her. With a shriek she fell back in a swoon.

M. Dubois exerted himself at the risk of his own life to save La Fevre. Damourier went to Louise and assured her that he would leave no stone unturned to restore her lover to her. But notwithstanding her father's efforts and Damourier's offers the young man was sent to the guillotine.

A year passed during which Damourier was profuse in his sympathies for Louise and was again becoming so attentive to her as to excite comment among her friends when one day Mme. La Fevre called upon her and told her that in examining her dead son's papers she had found one that had been sent to him anonymously, warning him to beware of Damourier. She handed it to Louise to read.

Love in the girl was converted by this information into a fierce revenge. Nevertheless she concealed her feelings. Her first act would be to confirm her suspicion that Damourier had been responsible for the death of her lover. Quietly she began to make inquiries as to how during the reign of terror one would secure the conviction of another as an enemy of France. The information she received led her to form a plan.

She asked her father for 5,000 francs with which to erect a monument to her lover. The money was given her, and with it veiled, so as not to be known, she went to the office of the official who kept the records of those who perished as enemies of France and asked for a private interview. When the interview was finished the keeper of the records had her 5,000 francs and she had the key to the room containing the records.

From that time she treated Damourier with great consideration. She reminded him how sympathetic he had been with her in the loss of her lover. She questioned him continuously as to what means he had taken to save La Fevre. And when encouraged by her gratitude he offered if she would be his wife to do what he could to eradicate the scar she had received she said that no one but an ingrate could refuse.

When Damourier asked Louise to name a day for their marriage she said that she was preparing a monument for her dead love, and as soon as that had been accomplished she would accede to his request.

Louise invited her father, Damourier and a few intimate friends to go to the cemetery where La Fevre's body was buried to witness the setting up of the monument she had prepared. When they arrived at the grave there was no monument.

"Where is it, Louise?" asked her father.

Louise produced a paper and read aloud:

Page 36. Records of executed enemies of France. Armand La Fevre, Gaston Damourier.

Then Louise fell forward in the arms of her father.
